

StackExchange

StackExchange provides a community-based support forum where questions about USRP, UHD, GNU Radio, and Software Defined Radio (SDR) in general, can be discussed. StackExchange complements the Mailing List, as it provides a web-based forum-style interface to a community which includes many technical experts.

Please note that the primary methods of technical support for NI/Ettus USRP hardware and software are NI SRM and the various Mailing Lists, but StackExchange / StackOverflow provides a different and alternative way to obtain support from both NI/Ettus engineers and from the SDR community.
