StackExchange

StackExchange provides a community-based support forum where questions about USRP, UHD, GNU Radio, and Software Defined Radio (SDR) in general, can be discussed. StackExchange complements the Mailing List, as it provides a web-based forum-style interface to a community which includes many technical experts.

Please note that the primary methods of technical support for NI/Ettus USRP hardware and software are NI SRM and the various Mailing Lists, but StackExchange / StackOverflow provides a different and alternative way to obtain support from both NI/Ettus engineers and from the SDR community.

- StackOverflow Homepage (https://stackoverflow.com/)
- Listing of the StackExchange communities (https://stackexchange.com/sites)
- DSP StackExchange Community (https://dsp.stackexchange.com/)
- Ham Radio StackExchange Community (https://ham.stackexchange.com/)
- List of posts on StackOverflow with the "uhd" tag (http://stackoverflow.com/questions/tagged/uhd)
- List of posts on StackOverflow with the "usrp" tag (http://stackoverflow.com/questions/tagged/usrp)
- List of posts on StackOverflow with the "software defined radio" tag (http://stackoverflow.com/questions/tagged/software-defined-radio)
- List of posts on StackOverflow with the "gnuradio" tag (https://stackoverflow.com/questions/tagged/gnuradio)
- List of posts on StackOverflow with the "gnuradio companion" tag (https://stackoverflow.com/questions/tagged/gnuradio-companion)
- Wikipedia Article for StackExchange (https://en.wikipedia.org/wiki/Stack_Exchange)